

Federal Work-Study Hiring and Compensation:

- Federal Work-Study is a federal aid program that provides employment opportunities for eligible undergraduate students who would like to work in order to pay for their college.
- Federal Work-Study assignments are designed to provide students with an opportunity to gain experience in their career-field to develop general work skills that are transferable to a multitude of different jobs.
- Students who mark “yes” on their FAFSA form to the question, “are you interested in work-study” will receive full consideration of a work study aid offer.
- Eligible students can visit the Peacock Career Portal/Handshake site to view available openings
 - Students interview for open positions with the Department supervisor
 - If hired for a position, students must complete the Federal Work-Study packet from the UIU Human Resources Department, which includes payroll documents and a contract that must be completed, prior to working.
 - Students are paid the standard hourly rates (typically minimum wage)
 - Students are paid once per month and can work up to 20 hours per week during the regular academic school year
 - Students can earn up to the amount listed on their aid offer
